Pratt, Kansas—Sam Beck, farmer of near this city, reports an unusual assembly on his farm. A Wandotte hen wanted to set when Beck did not allow her, she showed her motherly instinct and adopted a family of 11 small pigs. The hen struts around the pigs quite proudly and scratches and clucks while the pigs root and grunt. The mother of the pigs did not understand at first, but has finally accepted the situation and now the pigs and hen eat and sleep together. Those who laugh at safety never laugh last.

Care—careless. What a whale of a difference just a few letters make.

SUMMER TOURS ON SHIPS

TIME was when ships would be at sea for months, only to stagger into port with a crew desperately ill from what we now know as "deficiency diseases"—diseases such as scurvy and beriberi which come from not eating food which contains the vital vitamins.

For one thing, the mariners of those times didn't know what caused the diseases, and if they had known, they would have been little better off, for they had no way then of preserving fruits and vegetables for long periods.

Modern Preserving

Today, all that is changed. We know that certain elements contained in fruits and vegetables will prevent the deficiency diseases. Most ships have mammoth refrigerators to preserve some of their food supply. But even more important in the diversification of diet at sea is the use of canned foods. For food preserved in cans is sterilized in such a way that it loses practically none of its vitamin content. And its use, coupled with the foods which are held in cold storage, provides a diet so delicious and so healthful that physicians nowadays don't hesitate to prescribe sea trips for the most delicate patients.

The food which goes onto a ship is never left to chance. Men with vast experience of the dietetic needs of passengers and also of their likes and dislikes compile the orders, and when the foods arrive they are inspected with as much care as custom officers bestow on a suspected smuggler. The inspector has to work hard, too. On one of the big liners recently he had thirty-five different kinds of canned fruits to inspect, and fifty-three different kinds of canned vegetables. The fresh vegetables carried on this ship in season number seventy-seven items, and the fresh fruits number thirty-eight. In all there are approximately 1200 items on its Steward's Account of Stores.

More Variety Than a Farm

It is not surprising nowadays, therefore, to hear the passengers say at the end of a summer tour: "We had more variety in our menus, more different foods, than you can get on a farm." For what farm ever boasted 1200 different foods?

The main canned fruits on this boat were peaches, pineapple, pears, apricots and Royal Anne cherries, but there were many other fruits in lesser amounts. Pie is as popular on shipboard as on land, so big No. 10 cans of apples, California peeled pie peaches, crushed pineapple, Maine blueberries, sour pitted cherries, and some half dozen other kinds are taken on board to meet this demand. Many of these are put up, to preserve their color, in sanitary enamel lined cans.

Canned peas, tomatoes and corn, of course, are stocked in large quantities, but there are also enough of the less staple vegetables—fancy succotash made with tiny green lima beans, asparagus tips and fancy California mammoth white asparagus, dark red whole beets, pimientos—to stock a good sized grocery store. This ship carries canned milk, flour, sugar, syrup, fifty-four different cereals, dried fruits, nuts, pickles, olives, oil, coffee, tea, spices, extracts, seasonings, crackers, sauces and enough sundries to bewilder even the most experienced housewife. Its larder offers, among other delicacies, nearly thirty different varieties of jellies and jams.

Fresh Foods Too

In the ship's big refrigerator there are also many kinds of fresh meat and fish. The latter includes twenty-two different kinds of shellfish, and the former consists of fresh beef, mutton, lamb, veal, pork—even sixteen different kinds of Kosher meats. There are butter, eggs, cheese, and ice cream in endless varieties, and several dozen kinds of poultry and game.

But canning and preserving play their parts, too, among the meats and fish. This particular ship carried sixty-three kinds of fish, salted, smoked, canned, and in the form of paste; more than a dozen different smoked meats; and miscellaneous meats, fresh, frozen and pickled, to the number of twenty-three.

This story tells of the stores on one particular ship, but it was chosen only to serve as an example. There are endless varieties of foods now on all the big liners, and you can call for pretty much anything that you please. Try it out. The next time you embark for a tour, or even just to cross the ocean, call for creamed baby carrots or huckleberry pie, for deviled crabs or pineapple fritters—and the odds are that they'll appear on your table. But the important fact remains not that you can tickle your palate, but that you can have the right foods for a balanced menu and keep well.

Commencement Program

Was Well Given

The program for commencement week, which started last Sunday, with baccalaureate, an account of which was given by Miss Pierson, in the H. S. Searchlight, followed, with the graduation exercises in the town hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

There was a very large attendance to witness the fine program which started with the commencement march. Invocation was given by Rev. D. S. Duffy.

Miss Greta Boardman with salutatory and essay recited "This Is the Age of Play." The high school chorus then sang "Ole Uncle Moon" by Scott.

Miss Laura Rimbald with the class essay chose for her subject, "Feminine Futurity."

Florence Duggan gave an account of the class history while Richard Smith defined "The Billboard Curse" in his class essay.

"Out Where the West Begins" by Philo, was sung by the high school chorus.

The remainder of the program was as follows:

Class Prophecy, Wendell Gove; prophecy of the Prophet, Sylvia Dickerman; class ode, Mildred Rouillard; class will, Shirley Smith; presentation of Senior Cane, Florence Duggan; Cliribim, Pestalozza, by the Girls' chorus; valedictory and essay "Rowing, Not Drifting" Rose Helen Jeffords.

Presentation of a medal to an eighth grade pupil which is awarded annually to the pupil who attains the highest marks and standard, was given to Richard Stahlberg.

Presentation of diplomas was made by Frank W. Jeffords.

"To Thee, O Country" by Eucherberg, was sung by the high school chorus and benedictory was given by Rev. Johnson A. Haines.

Those who graduated were Greta M. Boardman, Sylvia A. Dickerman, Florence M. Duggan, Wendell A. Gove, Rose Helen Jeffords, Laura E. Rimbald, Mildred G. Rouillard, Richard I. Smith and Shirley Smith.

The class motto was "Rowing, Not Drifting" and the class flower was white rose.

The stage was banked with evergreen boughs and large baskets of cut flowers, mountain laurel and ferns were placed about.

The reception by the class of 1930 to the graduating class was held Friday evening and there was an exceptionally large attendance. Dancing was enjoyed until 1 a. m. with excellent music by Danny Graham and his Blue and Gold ballroom orchestra of eight pieces, from Bellows Falls, Vt.

Susie Pierson, Editor
Rowing, Not Drifting

ROWING, NOT DRIFTING
As the graduating class departed last week we spent many minutes at different times thinking of their motto, "Rowing, Not Drifting."

It gave us the impression of a boat in mid-river, which if it were not for the ones rowing, would likely drift downstream. We pictured them in our minds as they will be in perhaps 10 years and wonder whether they will be rowing or drifting.

This class greatly diminished during the four years. There were 23 students when they entered in 1925 and only nine at the finish. The rest drifted out of sight as the years went on.

When it came time for the Washington trip one member of the graduating class could not go because of ill health. Many honor her because she faced her disappointment with a smile.

As members of the class of 1929 go on in life they doubtless will remember what Rev. Mr. Haines said of them at the baccalaureate sermon "There go the ships, and although there are only nine, each one will find his wave on the river of life upon which to float."

School News

Typing awards were announced in the weekly assembly Thursday morning.

The junior high and freshmen classes planned a picnic Saturday at Spofford lake in charge of Mr. Mulcahy.

Everyone was invited to attend the reception given by the class of 1930 to the class of 1929 Friday night at 8 o'clock. Dancing was enjoyed from 9 to 1 a. m.

Christopher Mason, who is studying in Loma Linda, Calif., in a medical college, visited Florence Butler over the week-end and expects to come again for the summer. He will return in the fall for two years more of study.

Manual arts classes are constructing projects for the graduation stage. Members of the junior high manual arts course made the shield upon which was painted the motto of the class.

Some members of the junior Latin class, including Francis Mannie, Bernard Pelech and Susie Pierson, accompanied Miss McCallum and Miss Barbrick to Spofford lake Wednesday night.

Members of the junior Commercial class including Ora Smith, Ernest Gould, Earl Royce, Shells Watkins, Thelma Townsend, Corinne Stewart, with Richard Smith, 29, as guests, accompanied Miss Glines to Spofford lake Monday night on a picnic.

History of civilization classes have completed term theses and the three members of the class of 1930 who are not taking history, Ora Smith, Dexter Royce and Susie Pierson, have written one on an English topic. These theses which consist of at least 1500 words, will be given English credit as well as history credit.

The baccalaureate service was held Sunday in the town hall. The program was as follows: Chorus, "Unfold, Ye Portals"; hymn, "O God, Beneath Thy Guiding Hand"; invocation, Rev. D. S. Duffy; responsive "The Lord Is My Shepherd"; hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past"; address, "Rowing, Not Drifting" Rev. J. A. Haines; chorus, "The Heavens Resound"; benediction, Rev. J. A. Haines.

Class of 1904 Holds

25th Anniversary Reunion

A very pleasant event occurred Friday and Saturday, June 21 and 22, when the class of 1904, Hinsdale High school, held its 25th anniversary reunion.

Eleven of the thirteen surviving members of the class, with members of their families totalling 27, attended, either one of the evenings.

The class attended the reception to the class of 1929 Friday evening and had a very enjoyable time renewing old acquaintances. On Saturday afternoon they went to Brattleboro and had a group picture taken, returning to Rock Island Tea room where a banquet was served. The table decorations were white daisies, the class flower, and ferns from the same root as those used for decorating the stage for their graduation 25 years ago. After the banquet they went to Grange hall and had a social hour.

The hall was decorated with the class colors, green and white. The class pictures and those of the 1904 faculty and of Rev. William E. White, who preached the baccalaureate sermon were in evidence. White daisies and mountain laurel were used and here too, were some of the ferns and the class shield used at their graduation. Fruit punch was served during the social hour.

The class was delighted to have as its guest of honor, Miss Florence M. King, teacher of classics during their four years in high school and regretted very much the inability of Rev. D. L. Fisher, principal during the same time to be with them, also John A. Fisher of Columbus, Ohio, who was detained by business.

There were 15 members of the graduating class of 1904, the largest class ever graduated from the Hinsdale High school. There have been just two deaths since graduation, Miss Jennie Duggan and Miss Lilla Britton. The class officers for the four high school years were William H. Mead, president and Mrs. Hannah (Higginson) Pike, secretary and treasurer. It was this class which held the first Halloween ball, which has since become an annual event conducted by the junior class.

Those attending the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barber and two children of Brattleboro, Mr. and Mrs. George Waite of South Chelmsford, Mass., Mrs. Daniel Conway and two children of Greenfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cone of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mead and two children of Huntsville, Texas, Mrs. John A. Fisher and two children of Columbus, Ohio, Miss Ella Streeter of Providence, R. I., Leland Hubbard of West Chesterfield, N. H., Mrs. Kate Smith and son, Mrs. Madelyn Delano and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra B. Pike of this town and Miss Florence M. King of Northampton, Mass.

"THE ADVENTUROUS LIFE"

Much More Praticable Now Than in the Days of Parfait Gentil Knites or Spanish Galleons Awash With Their Bloodstained Gold. Wow!

A splendid appeal for the Adventurous Life—the life which seeks new mental horizons as opposed to the dull complacent life of the human herd—was made by Raymond B. Fosdick before the graduating class at Smith College, as reported in the New York Times of Sunday last.

Among many other striking things too numerous to quote here, the speaker said: "My concern is that you will catch the contagion of fear, that you will too gladly pay the price of living comfortably with neighbors. My apprehension is that you will walk in the middle of the road and sit in the middle of the boat and too soon forget the duty that is laid on all those who would call themselves educated—the duty of rebellion. I am not afraid of your nonconformity. I am afraid of your conformity. I do not worry about your dissent; I worry about your acquiescence. It is not your unrest and discontent that bother me as I think of the future; it is your complacency. The thing that I dread for you is the cloud of dullness settling over your lives as it has settled over the lives of so many who have gone before."

And then the speaker points out, with many an apt illustration and side comment, that a capacity to be different, a contempt for majorities, a determination to climb mountains if one climbs alone—this is the true end of education. And the dominant characteristic of this greatly to be desired Adventurous plus Educational Life is that it is UNAFRAID. It mortgages the integrity of its mind to no political party, to no ecclesiastical organization, to no group whatsoever. Its mind is its own; its loyalties are self-selected. . . . It is unafraid of change. . . . It stands on tiptoe before every promise of discovery in the physical and social sciences. It waits with high anticipation for news from the far frontiers of knowledge. . . .

GOOD! GREAT! FINE! We note with mild curiosity, however, that no mention is made by the speaker of the FOUNDATIONS OF SUCCESS FOR THE LIVING OF THE ADVENTUROUS LIFE. The acquirement of a faith, a belief, a philosophy, a knowing that one knows what one knows. . . . that God is. . . . that God is Good. . . . that Everything is for the Best in This Best of All Possible Worlds.

As the Master has pointed out, it is not absolutely necessary to believe in Him (Jesus) but it is essential to Love God and Your Neighbor. An education that does not assist in building up this faith is a tool of the devil and an education that in any way conspires to tear down such a faith is something even worse again. (Of course, we are not insinuating anything about the curriculum at Smith; that is perfectly all right with us. We merely wonder a trifle why this fine speaker neglected to at least dig down this deep in formulating his magnificent subject.)

When Sir Richard Greville fought the Spanish Fleet at Fayal in the Azores, with his little Revenge galley, and complacently remained sitting on the deck as he sank beneath the waves, remarking: "We are just as near Heaven on sea as on land," we know he had such a faith, without concerning ourselves about his particular dogmas. And to make a more direct application, taking one of Mr. Fosdick's own illustrations: The mother of Lord Haldane, who at the age of 90 took up the study of Hebrew and at 92 advised her distinguished 70-year-old son to identify himself with the Labor party, because, she said, "It promised so much more for the good of England than the Liberal party under its outworn leadership." She certainly had this necessary faith.

Education, based on a faith that cannot be shaken and that one can die for just as gladly as one can live for, is the best of all schemes for living the Adventurous Life. . . . we might say the only worthwhile life; but an education that in any way passes over this faith foundation, as something to be taken up later on in life, is apt to be a beautiful tower on a crumbling base, liable to topple over and break into fragments at the first light strain put upon it.

We hate to end up with a quotation but she's just boiling in our mind, so here it is:

"And so in the fight of the battle of life,

It's easy to fight while you're winning;

It's easy to slave and starve and be brave

When the dawn of success is beginning;

But the man who can greet despair and defeat with a cheer?

There's the man of God's choosing;

The man who can fight to heaven's own height,

Is the man who can fight when he's losing.

Carry on! Carry on!

Believe in your mission. Greet life with a cheer.

There's big work to do and that's why we're here.

Carry on! Carry on!

Let the world be the better for you.

And, at last, when you die, let this be your cry—

Carry on, oh my soul, carry on!

Cheerio.

COMMUNICATIONS

Living the Adventurous Life

The commencement address at Smith college last week was a "trumpet call" to lead the adventurous life, delivered by Raymond Fosdick speaking on behalf of an organization that bears the promising title of the Institute of Social and Religious Research.

Whether or not the advice to lead adventurous life in general is wise guidance for young women just setting out into the world is a question for pedagogues to decide. But Mr. Fosdick's advice was not general.

What he said in effect was that if you are a Republican, a Congregationalist, a Mason, or belong to a patriotic society or equip your home with labor saving devices, then you have a closed mind and are leading the herd life.

But, if you are a Democrat, a Socialist sympathizer, an admirer of Ramsey MacDonald, La Follette and Lenin, refuse to join the Country club and skimp on the housework, then you are leading the adventurous life. Which inclines us to believe that Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, who spent two summers in Northfield recently was right when he said, "An adventure is a sign of incompetence."

Don't let Anybody "KID" you

A lot of people are trying to make you believe they can write miles into a tire. Don't let them "kid" you. "There are no miles in a bottle of ink."

The only way you can get miles into a tire is to build miles in, the way Goodyear does, with the powerful, tractive All-Weather Tread and extra-elastic, extra-durable SUPERTWIST Cord.

Then you can give a real guarantee, the guarantee we give with the Good year Tires we sell:

Every Goodyear and Pathfinder Pneumatic Tire is Guaranteed against defects for its entire life.

During the severe thunder shower of Friday night lightning struck Sam Alexander's house, entering by way of the chimney and causing damage estimated at about $1000. Fortunately neither Mr. nor Mrs. Alexander were injured and the loss is covered by insurance. During the same shower lightning also struck an electric light pole near W. D. Luey's and put the electric lights out of commission. It was the worst storm this place has had for years.

Rev. Herbert E. Buffum of South Vernon gave a very good Bible study lecture at Union hall on Sunday evening. It was very interesting and it is too bad the attendance was not larger. We hope he gives more of these studies here, when we can get out a larger audience.

On next Sunday evening this community is invited to attend services in the South Vernon church and we hope many will do so. We are to furnish music and a rehearsal will be held in Union hall on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone who can sing is needed to help.

Mrs. Frank Wood is in the Brattleboro Memorial hospital being treated for varicose veins. During her absence Mrs. John Kervian is taking charge of the housework, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Eastman, who has been helping Mrs. Wood. Mrs. Wood has been on her feet too much doing the hard work necessary to care for her many boarders among the men working on the new state road. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

The Sunday school here closes with next Sunday's session. No sessions of the Sunday school will be held during July and August. A Sunday school picnic is planned to be held soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Cota were called to North Conway, N. H., on Tuesday by the death of an aunt of Mrs. Cota's. They remained for the funeral on Wednesday, returning home Wednesday night. Mrs. Malcolm Billings stayed with the children during their absence.

Mrs. C. L. Gilbert visited her sister, Mrs. Delaney, in Orange a few days last week.

The Ladies Benevolent society held a meeting at the library on Wednesday. Mrs. Murray Hammond and Mrs. C. L. Gilbert were hostesses at the luncheon following the meeting.

Mrs. Roy Osgood with her three sons, and Miss Jane Calloway, all of Chicago, were visitors at the W. D. Luey's last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Luey, Eleanor and Billy, spent part of last week at one of the Luey cottages.

Wesley Kendall of Worcester was a recent guest of the W. D. Luey's.

Miss Retta Barrett and Miss Alma Thomas, Miss Marion Cutts and Miss Mildred Hood, all of Medford spent the week-end at Miss Barrett's home, the Oren Darling place.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blinn and family of Moore's Corner called on Mrs. Blinn's sister, Mrs. Harry Glazier and family on Sunday. They brought with them Mrs. Glazier's mother, Mrs. Mary Briggs, who is staying for a visit.

The Scout team has a ball game at Shearer's field on Thursday evening with a team from South Vernon.

"The Man Who Laughs"

At Garden Theatre

A dictionary of superlatives would be required to amply describe "The Man Who Laughs," which is now at the Colonial Garden theatre in Greenfield.

This Universal super-Jewel will go a long way toward replacing the motion picture in its rightful place as the world's most popular form of entertainment. Universal has never failed to make a great picture from a Victor Hugo story, for example "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "Les Miserables."

Never has a more beautiful love story been told than that between Dea, the blind maid, and Gwynplaine, the maimed clown whose facial deformity dooms him to a perpetual grin. Mary Philbin, as Dea, has a role of rare ethereal beauty which again proves her to be the most beautiful and the most tragic of all screen stars.

The Court of Queen Anne as it was in 1705 amid England's political chicanery; the queen's music room; the House of Lords; the voluptuous chambers of the Duchess of Josiana; Southwark Fair and the Combrachios at sea form just a few of the many spectacles of this lavish production.

Parson: "And which of all the parables do you like best, my boy?"
Tommy: "The one where somebody loafs and fishes."

Caution all day keeps the doctor away.

Nifty Sports Costume

This attractive sports costume consists of a two-piece dress of olive green crepe and a green felt sports hat trimmed with an ornament of crystals. The dress is made with plaited skirt and the overblouse is embroidered in green flowers of a darker shade.

Hinsdale Hill-Hall

Robert S. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Hall of Greenfield, Mass., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Hall of this town, was married in Christ church in Andover, Mass., June 17, to Miss Dorothy Evelyn Hill of Andover, Mass., by Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector, assisted by Rev. Ambler Garnett of Greenfield, Mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Shirley McKee was maid of honor and Rev. J. Walter Leppert of Lynn, Mass., was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, after a wedding trip, will live in Tamworth, where Mr. Hall has a summer pastorate.

They need a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.—Psalm 119:105

Persecutions Bring Blessings

Matthew 5:10, 11, 12. Jesus said: Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. 11. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of vil against you falsely, for my sake. 12. Rejoice, and be exceedingly glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. Prayer—The Lord's hand is not shortened that it cannot save; Neither is His ear heavy that it cannot hear.

A stitch in time saves nine. A brake in time saves dying.

June falls asleep upon her bier of flowers; In vain are dewdrops sprinkled o'er her, In vain would fond winds fan her back to life; Her hours are numbered on the floral dial. —Larcom.

Greenwood Tea Room
Is Very Popular

Millers Falls has one thing that they should be proud of and that is the Greenwood Tea Room situated on the road leading from Millers Falls to Turners Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge Deane have made a pleasant spot for the tourist and traveling public where they can dine and dance. There is a spacious parking space away from the highway where a meal can be enjoyed at ease. Mrs. Coolidge Deane, hostess, serves the most wonderful dinners and luncheons at a nominal price which will please the most fastidious.

The main building consists of a private dining room, a tea room and dining hall which will accommodate about one hundred guests.

CHICAGO—The average American girl eats six times her weight in candy during her lifetime.

Ferdinand A. Bunte of Bunte Brothers, candy manufacturers, figured out the problem with mathematical precision.

"Per capita consumption of candy in the United States is twelve pounds annually," said Mr. Bunte. "Average life span is fifty-eight years. Weight of the average woman may be estimated at 115 pounds. Thus the average woman eats 866 pounds of candy from the cradle to the grave, or six times her weight."

"The fact that modern women eat their weight in candy every ten years and retain their svelte comeliness is proof that candy, in moderation, is not fattening. The human body requires a certain amount of sugar. A daily ration of sweets is vital to health."

Why We Stop Growing

The reason we stop growing is because there is a limit to the growth in size of the cells which make up our body. During youth, exercise and nourishment permit cells to grow and multiply up to a certain point, but the "law of growth" prevents undue multiplication or size when the limit is reached. Well, I dunno," replied the native. "We aint lost a hog in fifteen years."

Bathing Beauties' Heated Pool
Puts Swim's Last Shiver to Rout

A steam-heated ocean! California bathing beauties hang their clothes on a hickory limb and then go near the water, happy that its temperature is 70 degrees, instead of the 33 degrees under which less fortunate swimmers shiver in the ocean only a few feet away.

All this is peculiar to the Bay Shore Yacht Club, popular haunt of the distinctive residential colony at Carmel Bay on Monterey Peninsula. The "Pacific ocean water" "as is" was too cold for those who used the club's open-air pool, filled with water pumped straight from the nearby sea. Club members wished they could find a comfortable method for taking a plunge.

Today things are changed. Two oil-burners like those heating many homes nearby, warm 200 gallons of salt water each minute as the ocean stream is pumped through a special boiler. Old-fashioned heating methods require twenty-four to thirty hours

Contributions Asked For Fourth Celebration

Contribution boxes were placed in nearly all the business places of the town by a committee attempting to raise funds for an all day celebration here on July 4th.

The group is headed by Charles E. Haselton, Thomas P. Frawley and Joseph I. Trudel are the other committee members. Additional funds are necessary to furnish any other Fourth program except the fireworks, and the committee is endeavoring to get a small contribution from everyone to the total of $350.

Flacards on the contribution boxes give a suggested program, which includes junior baseball, between Orange and Turners at 10 a. m., band concerts at 1:30 and 8 p. m., an interstate league ball game at 2 o'clock, field events at 4, and an entertainment under the playground director at six.

It is the hope of the committee that the public will support them in this effort to provide an all-day celebration, as it is felt that something of the sort will be appreciated and enjoyed by all who are in town on the holiday.

THE SHIP THAT WAS A NAVY

THE frigate CONSTITUTION, most famous ship in the world, Shrine of the American Navy, is being rebuilt at the Navy Yard, Boston, Massachusetts. In the very same dry dock that she christened in 1833, having been the first ship to enter it, she is taking a new lease on life. Thanks to popular subscription, restoration is now 50 percent completed.

Over $700,000 has been raised towards rebuilding of the CONSTITUTION; approximately $190,000 is required to complete the Fund. This money is being raised through the sale of beautiful ten color lithographs of the ship, measuring 18 3/4 inches x 22 3/4 inches, at 50 cents each.

Restoration should be completed within a year. Once again equipped as she looked at the height of her brilliant career, the CONSTITUTION will put to sea, this time on a cruise of peace, carrying her historic message to Americans in every principal port in the country.

Pretty Home Wedding At the Grover Farm

A very pretty home wedding took place last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Grover farm in Bernardston, when Hazel Mae, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Grover, became the wife of Herbert Almon Thurber, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Thurber of Bernardston.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Merrill Ward of Guilford, Maine, a cousin of the bridegroom before a bank of mountain laurel with large baskets of peonies and snap dragons at either side.

Mrs. Chester Colburn, sister of the bride played the wedding march by Mendelssohn. The bride and groom were attended by their fathers and mothers. The bride's sister, Lella Grover and the groom's nephew, Emerson Thurber of Montague acted as ring bearers and Clifford Grover, youngest brother of the bride carried the rings hidden in a rose upon an antique tray.

The bride looked very lovely in her gown of white chiffon with picture hat of white horse hair braid and carrying a shower bouquet of butterfly roses and smilax.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held when refreshments were served the guests by Mrs. Walter Grover, Mrs. Chester Colburn, Miss Grace Blodgett, Mrs. Chester Fogg and Miss Lella Grover. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber left late in the afternoon for a week's trip by automobile to Canada and New York state. The bride's going away costume was a pearl gray ensemble with blue hat and shoes.

GRAPE-JUICE PIE GAINS FAVOR ON NATION'S MENU

There's the apple-pie belt of New England! And the sweet-potato pie sector of the South. There's the favored custard pie of the North—and the famous "deep-dish" fruit pie of the middle west!

By their pies ye shall know them! You can tell just where you are in the United States, geographically speaking, if you know your pies. The dessert pie is a characteristic national dish—favorite of men from coast to coast—and yet a New England apple pie is stranger to a Southern Yam pie, and the "open-faces" denote an entirely different lineage from the crisp-crusts, and the "closed-tops."

Now comes a contribution to the pie of the nation—from Westfield, New York, center of the Concord Grape industry of the world. Here, where more Concord grapes are raised than in any other spot in the world, they have evolved a new grape-juice pie—a delicious addition to the rapidly-enlarging pie-lore of the nation. This is the Welch's Grape Juice Pie recipe, evolved in western New York state, and tested at the Welch laboratory. You'll find it worthy to take its place among the geographical and gastronomic landmarks of our national menu.

Welch's Grape Juice Pie.
2 cups grape-juice 1 tsp. butter
1 cup sugar 3 egg yolks.
¼ cup flour

Heat juices in double boiler. Stir and add dry ingredients, add butter and beaten egg yolks. Let mixture boil thirty minutes until it thickens. Put the mixture into baked pie shell, cover with meringue made from three egg-whites; brown lightly in hot oven.

Shelburne Falls

W. M. A. of C. of C.
To Be at Ashfield Lake

Secretaries of the Greenfield and North Adams Chambers of Commerce and of Boards of Trade at Turners Falls, Millers Falls and Shelburne Falls met here Friday night and completed arrangements for the annual outing of the Western Massachusetts Association of Chambers of Commerce which is to be held at Ashfield Lake on Wednesday, July 24.

The management of the Lakeside House has arranged to turn over that resort and all privileges of the lake to the visiting Chamber of Commerce men for their outing. A golf tournament supervised by P. N. Hall of the Westfield Chamber will be played in the morning on the Ashfield course and while the golfers are attempting to drive, mashie and putt their way to victory, two baseball teams, captained by M. J. McCarlin and James Halsey, secretaries of the Northampton and Chicopee Falls Chambers respectively, will cross bats on a field near the lake.

Other events on the sports program include a barnyard golf contest, directed by Maj. Frederick J. Hillman, executive vice president of the Springfield Chamber, and water stunts, to be promoted by Edward Joyce of the Shelburne Falls board of trade. Three rounds of boxing will be staged, also races for fat men and those not so fat.

Immediately following the clambake a brief program of speaking will start, the feature of which is expected to be an address by William B. Remington, head of the Springfield advertising agency which bears his name, on the subject, "Recreational Advantages of Western Massachusetts."

As part of the matriculation examination in English, the entering students were asked to write a brief definition of their conception of a self-made man. One young lady wrote as follows: "A self-made man is like a self-made cigarette—just a lot of bull wrapped in a transparent cover."

I'LL TELL THE WORLD

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

He was wearing an Alice blue tam perched jauntily upon the side of his head, and she was wearing an Alice blue tam, and their young son was wearing an Alice blue tam, and there was a crowd outside the station also, each member of which was wearing the same sort of headgear. Alice blue was really not his particular color, for he was a brunette, and blue is usually supposed to be for blondes.

"Why does the man wear that funny cap?" an observant youngster inquired of his mother.

"Oh, he's been to some sort of—some sort of—" she didn't complete her sentence, for the child asked another question before she had time to determine the exact species of the thing he had been to, but there was no doubt in anyone's mind that he had, and he was coming home from Seattle covered with badges, which he was displaying with pride to the citizens of Vancouver.

He came from New Jersey, so the legend on his cap indicated, and he was a member in good standing I take it in all sorts of organizations, the insignia of which were attached to various parts of his clothing. There were keys and ivory teeth and jeweled and engraved emblems hanging from his watch chain, and attached to his waistcoat were two or three pins, while decorating the lapel of his coat were buttons and ribbons and a variety of parti-colored announcements which indicated to the curious observer where he had been and what had been going on and whom he had voted for, and how many times he had voted to conventions of this sort before. One could almost read his personal history from birth by the badges he wore.

It is a curious habit which most of us Americans have of broadcasting our beliefs and affiliations by the badges we wear. We seem to keep nothing to ourselves. The elderly gentleman just at the other end of the seat in which I am now sitting in the railway station is a clergyman in the Anglican church. It is quite easy to make out from the cut of his garb and the gold cross which dangles from his watch guard. The young man beside him goes to college at Michigan, belongs to the Sigma Nu fraternity and a sophomore social organization and is a Republican. All this he announces to the world by the decorations which adorn his front.

An engineer and a shiner in one just walked past me. I know by the gold decoration in his lapel and by the Tau Beta Pi key which caught my eye as he went by. He was evidently a good student in college and is not ashamed for everybody to know it.

It doesn't seem exactly modest to be metaphorically shouting as we walk down the street that we are Presbyterians or Elks or members of the plumbers' union, or whatever we do belong to, but there must be some glory or advantage in the custom or not so many Americans would follow it.

Warwick

Mrs. W. G. Wheeler and children of Dedham are at "Gracemont" for the summer months.

Misses Greta and Ann Ohlson, who teach in Northbridge are at their parents home here, Mr. and Mrs. Nils Ohlson for the summer.

The Misses June and Virginia Feljows are spending two weeks with their aunt in Fitchburg.

The grammar school graduation exercises were held in the Federated church Friday afternoon. Diplomas were presented to seven by Supt. L. W. Robbins.

Gill

Hear All About the "Juice" Situation Next Friday Eve.

The selectmen of this town are arranging a meeting of the citizens who are interested in the project of bringing a line of electricity into the town, to be held Friday evening, July 5th at 8 o'clock in the town hall. Manager Harry Duren of the Greenfield Electric Light & Power Co., will be present to represent the company and to answer any questions the people may wish to ask. This is the opportunity for each one to find out just what the proposition is that the Greenfield company will make, and also to give the company an idea of how deeply interested the property owners of Gill are to secure this service.

The meeting is not a legally called meeting, but it is arranged solely for those who want to understand the question more thoroughly.

Richard Watson and daughter, Dorothy of Mt. Hermon, sail for France tomorrow. During the absence of Mr. Watson, who is tax-collector of the town, taxes may be paid to S. A. Norton, whose office is in the administration building at Mt. Hermon school.

W. W. Cotton has moved his family into their new home which he recently purchased from Mrs. Saxton.

Mr. and Mrs. Luce and family have moved into their new home, the Grout place, owned by Mr. Elder. Mr. Luce is employed by Mr. Tenney of Northfield Farms.

The following students received diplomas in the 1929 graduating class at Turners Falls High school: Evelyn Edwidge Brown, May Dascomb, Walter Vassar and Malcolm Eddy.

Edna Ayer is working in Amherst. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stark and son, Archibald, have sailed for England on an extended tour of that country.

Voice from the Bathroom: "Anybody got any Ivory soap?"
Voice from the Depths: "What's the matter—wanna wash your head?"

DIPPING INTO SCIENCEBoth Ends Live

A worm still lives even though it is cut in two. This is because the worm is "constructed" differently than humans. The human nerve center is all located in one place—the brain—while in the worm the nervous system is scattered all through its body. Thus either half can live and function without the other.

ELECTRIC COOKERY Is Sootless

Small tasks multiplied become enormous difficulties. Cleaning soot from pots and pans is another burden that must be borne by the woman who cooks with fuel. Utensils used over the pure heat of the Electric Burner are always free from soot.

Any cook will tell you it is not so much the cooking as the cleaning up afterwards that makes the housewife dread the preparation of the family meals. With no dirty pots and pans to clean and the stove itself free from soot and smoke it is an easy matter to keep your whole kitchen equipment spic and span with little effort.

Electric Cookery, the modern method of converting raw foods into palatable dishes, is healthful, economical, clean and convenient.

More Spinach Canned

SPINACH, that much maligned and much praised vegetable, is coming into its own. For the total amount of spinach commercially canned in 1928 was almost one-third more than that processed in 1927.

Green and Good

The spinach of today is picked when young and tender, and has a delicate flavor. It is washed thoroughly to remove all sand and then is processed quickly while the leaves are still crisp and fresh. In this way, the canned spinach presents the greens to you fresher than you can get it in the market. Of course, there are many ways of using it other than serving it hot with butter and vinegar.

For a really substantial dish, try

Spinach and Bacon au Gratin. To make it, dice two slices of bacon and fry brown. Add contents of a number 2½ can of spinach, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, a few grains of nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one-half teaspoon chopped onion and one beaten egg yolk. Mix in a buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and sprinkle one tablespoon of grated Parmesan cheese over the top. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., until brown, about fifteen to twenty minutes.

A simpler method of preparing spinach is to dice some bacon, and fry it and about a tablespoon of minced onion in a pan. Then heat the spinach in the fat, seasoning liberally. Serve with lemon.*

TENNEY'S MERCEDES' PRINCESS WINS GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Mercedes' Princess of P. M., fine purebred Jersey cow, owned by C. S. Tenney of this town, has completed a production record of 715.91 lbs. of butterfat and 13,780 lbs. of milk in a 365-day official test. This exceptional record won both a gold and a silver medal from the American Jersey Cattle club for Mercedes' Princess of P. M.

She was started on this 365 day test, her first, when she was 4 years and 4 months of age and made her record with calf. During her best month, this high producing cow yielded 78.58 lbs. of butterfat. Her total yield during the test is equivalent to 895 lbs. of butter and 6,409 quarts of milk.

Mercedes' Princess of P. M. is the half-sister of Mercedes' Bess of P. M. now on test in Mr. Tenney's fine herd of Jerseys. Mercedes' Bess is just completing a year's test and during the first 352 days has produced more than 775 lbs. of butterfat. She was started on her present test at the age of 5 years and 1 month.

Mr. Tenney has four other Jersey cows on test at the present time and has been successfully doing production testing in his Jersey herd for several years.

Grange Is Doing Things In the Old Bay State

An interesting project is being sponsored by the subordinate Granges in Massachusetts, which are undertaking to furnish a "practice house" at the state agricultural college at Amherst, and for which purpose liberal sums of money are being raised. A new home economics building at the state college affords opportunity for the "practice house," especially designed to aid young women in mastering all the details of practical house-keeping. The Grange plan to provide the necessary equipment, designing same as a memorial for which the Granges of the state will receive permanent credit.

One of the achievements in legislation, for which the Grange in Massachusetts was responsible during the session of the legislature just closed, was the enactment of a law protecting a farmer who desires to cross the highway with a tractor, or other piece of motor farm machinery, or to take such machinery from one portion of his farm to another. Formerly it had been ruled that not even to this extent could a motor vehicle of any sort be moved on the highway, unless it were duly licensed and insured under state law, resulting in great hardship and large expense to many farmers.

A red-hot race is on among Massachusetts Granges, for first place in membership size. Worcester and Pittsfield are running neck and neck, each having a Grange roll well in excess of 600 partons. Third in size is New Bedford, while Fitchburg, Waltham and Nantucket are all nearing the 500 mark. There are nearly 50,000 Grange members in Massachusetts, with fully a dozen local Granges having more than 300 members on their roll.

Commencement Exercises of Northfield High School

The Northfield High school held commencement exercises in the town hall on Wednesday evening. Prof. I. J. Lawrence of Mt. Hermon, musical department, led the school in several songs between the numbers of graduation events. Miss Eunice M. Holton gave the salutatory and Aaron W. Newton the valedictory. The latter plans to attend Middlebury college in the fall. The others who received diplomas were Esther Maynard, Alvin C. Porter, Edward Reed, Charles Repeta, Charles J. Scoble and Ellen Callaghan. These were presented by L. W. Robbins, superintendent of schools. Pro merito awards were presented to those pupils in the high school who had maintained an average of 85 per cent in each study the past three years. These were presented by Principal Evelyn G. Lawley to Seth Field, Polly Parker, Ruth French and Charlotte Lombard. Edward Reed of the graduating class, who has not been absent or tardy from school for seven years, was presented a certificate by the principal. He is class treasurer.

Each year the name of a graduate who has shown the greatest loyalty and made the greatest achievements in his course in the high school is placed on a framed plaque hung in the high school auditorium. Aaron Newton won this honor. He was also given the Washington and Franklin medal, an award of the Sons of the American Revolution. Edward Reed was also awarded a book "Confessions of a Sportman" by Rex Beach, as an appreciation for his perfect school attendance for seven years.

The address of the occasion was delivered by Hon. H. O. Parsons of Boston, a Northfield son. He gave a little of the early history of Northfield of its excellent educational advantages and

DAYTIME ATTIRE

Despite the favor which the soft, very feminine frocks are enjoying, frocks for general daytime wear remain simply tailored. The junior model shown cleverly utilizes the chic of plain and printed cottons, hand extensions of the round yoke being the only decorative note.

The frock at the right is especially designed for those women who wish to conceal large hips. The long collar, crossed-over fronts and vestee combine to give it slimming lines which are carried out by the group of pleats at the side. Attractive in flat crepe.

First Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4798. Sizes 6 to 14 years, 30 cents.
Second Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4815. Sizes 35 to 45, 44 cents.
